

AUTHORSHIP GUIDELINES

- Authorship is based on contribution of data
- Members who have any concerns regarding authorship can approach the chair and co-chairs
- Authors are free to use their own country's data for secondary papers and can choose their own collaborators. However, the paper needs to acknowledge PAROS CRN
- Lead authors of secondary papers are to propose 10 co-authors and submit the list to the EXCO committee for approval. Authors should also indicate if biostatistical/ writing support is required.

AUTHORSHIP GUIDELINES

- Papers must be submitted to chairs before it can be submitted for publication. This is also to prevent overlapping of materials, which may constitute plagiarism.
- Authors are required to sign a letter of undertaking when dataset is given to them
- Members who are interested in becoming co-authors of any secondary papers can contact the lead author directly

Plagiarism Software

Draft manuscripts will be ran through the Turnitin software to identify any overlapping materials
